

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for connecting multiple repeaters into a single collision domain comprising a first repeater, a second repeater and a stacking bus. The first repeater has a plurality of network ports. The second repeater also has a plurality of network ports. The stacking bus connects the first repeater and the second repeater and is configured to relay status signals between the first and said second repeaters.